Welcome!

Welcome to the students and teachers of Sioux Falls, South Dakota! We're happy
you are using Infotopia.info, Infotrek.info and Kidtopia.info for your research needs!

Have you or your students been reading about “fake” news or hoaxes that are all over the Internet? They are on social media as well as regular seemingly reliable web sites. Have you ever received a message from a friend or relative with a fake news article that they purport to be the truth? How do we know what is truthful?

Have your students check a “news” story on www.snopes.com about something that seems to be fake.

EasyBib has a great article about how to spot fake news articles and web sites.
<http://www.easybib.com/guides/10-ways-to-spot-a-fake-news-article/>

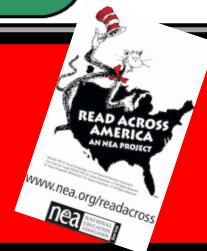

Julie Greller has an excellent article on her amazing Media Specialist's Guide to the Internet blog about how to spot fake news and hoaxes. <http://bit.ly/2iPgIH2>

Also, when you or your students use any of our search engines, (Infotopia or Infotrek, or Kidtopia), you can be assured that the resources have been checked out in advance by the education team at Infotopia for accuracy and authenticity, and have been recommended by teachers or librarians.
