To Motivate World Language Students, Tap Into Their Goals

<https://www.edutopia.org/article/motivating-world-language-learners>

by Kaitlin Granados Samayoa (Edutopia)

In this article, Ms. Samoyoa includes several ways to inspire students to use their newly acquired language skills in authentic ways. One that is especially interesting is to plan interactions with native speakers. She had her students interact on a Zoom call with a friend in Peru. They prepared questions in advance and learned a great deal.

Be sure to read about how she uses pen pals and social media in world language learning!
